Shinjin, Re-incarnation and Karma

Got your attention with this title, didn't I?

These are concepts that I spoke about in my dharma talks at the end of April.

I would like to revisit these concepts and offer a few more thoughts. Feel free to agree or disagree. This is a fundamental principle of Buddhism. Question, question, question and only when you are clear in your mind, should you accept these concepts.

First shinjin, what is it? I think the easiest description of shinjin is that one thought moment of entrusting without any doubt whatsoever where we encounter even for a moment the mind of Amida Buddha.

Without any doubt whatsoever, what is the problem with doubt obstructing our possible experience of shinjin? From "The Complete Works of Shinran Shonin, volume 1. "I quote:

"Ah, hard to encounter even in many lifetimes, is the decisive cause of birth, Amida's universal Vow! Hard to realise in myriads of kalpas pure shinjin that is true and real. If you should come to realise this practice and Shinjin, rejoice at the conditions from the distant past that have brought it about. But if in this lifetime still you are entangled in a net of doubt, then unavoidedly you must pass once more in the stream of birth-and-death through myriads of kalpas. : End of quote.

So, this most difficult of difficulties, it is the doubt in our mind that is the greatest of all obstacles preventing us experiencing shinjin. With doubt in our mind we are destined to endless cycles of birth and death.

Which leads us to our next concept. re-incarnation. We Buddhists borrowed this concept from Hinduism. After all, Buddhism was conceived in the land of India approximately 2,600 years ago.

So, re-incarnation, do you believe in it? Most of us do not. We are sceptical of this concept. Our analytical scientific minds reject this concept, but it is a fundamental of Buddhism. The sutras that we chant weekly make reference to the cycle of endless birth and deaths. We, in this modern age, this digital age do not talk about reincarnation but all of our seven patriarchs and Shinran Shonin talked about this cycle of endless births and deaths.

So that brings us to karma. Karma is widely accepted in today's society. It links bad behaviour in this lifetime to bad experiences in this life. But if we believe in re-incarnation then it follows that karma from previous lifetimes can and will follow us in this lifetime. And further, any karma that we accumulate in this lifetime will follow us in future lifetimes. And so on and so on.

I found this wonderful description of karma from an introduction to the book" Entering The Stream". The introduction was written by Bernardo Bertolucci who directed the film "Little Buddha" starring Keanu Reeves.

He wrote" Karma is a Sanskrit word meaning 'action." The teaching about karma is that actions we take now will have consequences later. For the most part, this is the everyday idea of cause-and-effect that most people take for granted. If you kick a ball it goes. If you lose your airline ticket, you have hassles. This karma, action and its action, or effect.

But according to the Buddha, action's actions sometimes happen on a more subtle level. Sometime the conditions necessary for action's effect to happen are not present, let's say you murder someone in the woods. There was no one present around and no evidence. Nobody suspected you at all. Yet there was a horrible moment of raw aggression, unforgettably vivid. Does that just go away? Of course we have the memory of it. But what is memory anyway?

According to the Buddha, action's action does not tend to dissipate. The effect will tend to happen some time, whenever suitable conditions are present. That moment of horrible aggression is likely to have its backlash some time. But will that backlash happen to you?

This question connects the idea of karma to that of rebirth, or re-incarnation. In the India of the Buddha's time, in the first millenium BCE (as to a great extent in the India of today), the notion of rebirth was taken for granted by almost everybody.

According to the popular Indian idea of re-incarnation, you get reborn again and again in different forms, sometimes as a god, sometimes in hell, in all kinds of better or worse circumstances. What you do now, it is thought, will effect your future rebirth. If you're greedy and mean, you might be reborn as a dung beetle. If you're a splendid person, you might be reborn as a god or a king or queen. A murderer will suffer a hideous situation somewhere along in the series of his rebirths. Other karma might come to fruition first, but sometime or other the backlash of his aggression will strike him—with a corresponding force and character, of course, because it is the action of his earlier action." So said Bernardo Bertolucci.

Shinran Shonin offers to those of us who will listen an opportunity to escape from this cycle of endless births and deaths. This opportunity is when we can open our hearts and minds to the Nembutsu teaching and experience shinjin. We just have to let go of all our doubts and entrust ourselves to Amida Buddha through the power of the Nembutsu. It is simple and yet it is also this most difficult of difficulties.

I would like to close with Shinran Shonin's words:

"How joyous I am, Gutoku Shinran, disciple of Sakyamuni! Rare is it to come across the sacred scriptures from the westward land of India and the commentaries of the masters of China and Japan, but now I have been able to encounter them. Rare is it to hear them, but already I have been able to hear. Reverently entrusting myself to the teaching, practice and realisation that are the true essence of the Pure Land way I am especially aware of the profundity of the Tathagatha's benevolence. Here I rejoice in what I have heard and extol what I have attained. "

Let us follow our founder Shinran Shonin by entrusting ourselves to the Nembutsu Teaching and perhaps in this lifetime we will experience the joy of shinjin so that we may be reborn in the Pure Land.

Rebirth and karma will be no more.

OBITUARIES

The Toronto Buddhist Church wishes to extend its deepest condolences to the families, relatives and friends of the following individuals who have passed away during the past month.

Mr. Joe Yoshio Shimoda

96 yrs

May 3, 2018

My parents were members of the Hamilton Buddhist Temple; but as a child I did not attend the temple regularly.

I and my brother started attending the Temple when my mother was first diagnosed with ovarian cancer in 2001. My mother passed away on October 3, 2003. I continued going to the Temple. The underlining principles of the Buddha dharma helped me with my mother's passing.

I became secretary of the Temple. My husband became the maintenance person at the Temple. As the years passed we felt that it was inevitable that if we needed a major repair to the Temple, we would not be able to afford it.

Our Board and Temple members made a decision to move to the Canadian Japanese Cultural Centre of Hamilton at 45 Hempstead Drive.

The move to the CJCC of Hamilton would be beneficial to CJCC and our Temple. We would have exposure to people with interest in our Japanese culture. Our membership at the Temple has grown.

We sold the Temple and made the move to the cultural centre in 2013. I became President of the Hamilton Buddhist Temple superseding my brother.

When making the decision to move, I was worried how our move would affect how I would feel about going to the Temple. I soon realized that it is the minister, the sangha and the dharma; not the building that is important.

In the beginning I was very anxious when leading service. With practice I am now comfortable. I have even led a funeral service.

For a while I was not very vocal in chanting; now I enjoy the chanting it seems very natural and calming.

Through the years, I felt that coming to our Temple once a month didn't seem to be a lot to offer to new members. In 2015 our Temple started having Mindfulness Meditation twice a month. I find the mindfulness practice very helpful in living day to day. When I am mindful, I am grateful and can be more compassionate to others.

I have led a Mindfulness Meditation when needed.

I am secretary to our Koyukai Seniors group at the cultural centre. The Koyukai Seniors group meets once a month.

I have attended the annual general meetings all across Canada; world conventions in Hawaii, Japan and Calgary. I have attended Eastern Buddhist Leagues conferences in Washington, Chicago, Cleveland and Seabrook.

I have attended services in Tacoma, Los Angeles, Honolulu, Phoenix, Montreal and Ottawa.

I am very grateful for the Jodo Shinshu teachings.

I continue to grow and change.

On Saturday May 12th, 2018 the Toronto Buddhist Church hosted a luncheon in recognition of those people who have supported the church throughout the years. A Hawaiian theme was chosen and this theme was carried throughout the afternoon – from Hawaiian music wafting throughout the parking lot and in the Social Hall, the wonderful BBQ provided by Liko's Hawaiian BBQ, decorations and photo booths created by our very talented Naomi Tsuji-Tamaki and desserts prepared by Dawn Anzai and Joanne Omori. Our MC for the event, Susan Takahashi, incorporated this theme into the afternoon festivities from the use of Hawaiian words, a Hawaiian quiz, scavenger hunt, "hula" hoop challenge, a hula performance from the Moana Group of the Ohana Hula Club from the JCCC and Heads & Tails games. Susan's husband, Ken Phan, was our photographer for the event. It was great seeing everyone participate in the activities and enjoying themselves!

Thank you to everyone for their hard work and dedication in keeping the Temple viable and we look forward to seeing you at our events in the future.

Our Guest Minister Rev. Nariaki Hayashi, Ekoji Buddhist Temple

Sunday June 24th at 11:00am

Please join us in welcoming our guest minister, Rev. Nariaki Hayashi from the Ekoji Buddhist Temple just outside Washington, D.C.. The Ekoji Buddhist Temple was founded 1981 by our founding minister, Rev. Kenryu Tsuji and the BDK.

Rev. Hayashi's biography, taken from his temple's website explains a little about him, "I was born in Hawaii, so I guess that makes me a Nisei; the second generation. I moved back to Japan when I was 12.

I come from a temple family with roots in Kagoshima, Japan.

After my graduation of Kansai International Language University, my first job was working in the hotel business as a salesman for over 5 years. The hotel business was a wonderful job, and proved to be a challenging career. However, while working so hard to achieve good results at sales, there was always a feeling of emptiness in my personal time. The more I succeeded, the more I sacrificed, spending more and more time at work. I quickly found out that, yes, the Japanese do work too hard.

Reflecting on this experience and what I was going through, I came to realize that the teaching of Shin Buddhism gave me an opportunity to pause and consider what life is. At the same time, it helped to fill the emptiness in my heart. Thus, from this experience, I believe that the teaching will guide me, and hopefully all of you who has not still encounter to our tradition, to a greater journey and meaningful life."

Please come out and listen to our guest minister and his interpretation of the Dharma and what it means to him. It is a great way to meet another minister of the Buddhist Churches of America Eastern District who will be participating at the Eastern Buddhist League Conference over the Labour Day Weekend in Toronto (Aug. 31 – Sep. 2).

OBON 2018 GUEST SPEAKER REVEREND KAZUNORI TAKAHASHI

Obon services will be held on Sunday, July 15, 2018, and we are pleased to announce that Reverend Kazunori Takahashi from Lihue, Hawaii will be our guest speaker.

Born in Nagato City, Japan, Reverend Takahashi completed his Masters degree in Buddhist Studies at Ryukoku University in Kyoto in 2007 and then participated in an

As of July 1, 2018, he will be assigned to the Honpa Hongwanji Mission of Hawaii headquarters as Executive Assistant to the Bishop.

Reverend Takahashi has been very active in the propagation of Jodo Shinshu Buddhism through his Dharma talks for Hawaiian radio and appearances as guest speaker at many temples and workshops. He is also involved in the Jodo Shinshu Correspondence Course as one of the ministers for the district of Hawaii.

If you would like to read some of Reverend Takahashi's Dharma talks and messages, please go to the Lihue Hongwanji Mission's newsletter, "Dharma Wheel", which can be found on their website: www.lihuehongwanjimission.com.
